RAID ON THE RAPIDAN.

The Object Crowned with Success-Great Destruction of Enemy's Property. A detachment of 300 men of the 16th New York, and 50 men of the 13th New York cayalry, under command of Colonel H. M. Lazelle, commanding cavalry brigade, left camp at Falls Church at 3 a.m. on the 17th, for the Rapidan, for the purpose of destroying a new and valuable bridge lately constructed over that river by the rebels, and which was of immense value to them, as this line was the only route by which communication was kept up between Richmond and Culpeper, and it was on this road that the harvest and plunder collected by Early in the valley were dispatched to the rebel capital. The command moved through Fairfax counto, and crossed Wolf Run Shoals the same night, and after a severe march bivouacked near Elk Run At 3 o'clock next morning took up the line of march; crossed the Rappahannock at Keliy's Ford, capturing the enemy's vidette. Pushing forward through Stephensburg, the command reached and crossed the Papidan at Raccoon Ford, and following the course of the river, reached and recressed it at Rapidan Station, where a charge through the village was made, capturing six prisoners, fully equipped. Here, as per information received, horses and mules belonging to the Confederate States Government, to the number of two hundred, were found grazing. These were quietly got together, and soon after the work of destroying the new and beautiful bridge commenced, under the supervision of Colonel Lazelle himself. In the meantime the mill, with five thousand barrels of flour, the telegraph office, the railroad depot, and other public buildings were consumed. A large train was moving in our direction, but seeing the smoke from the bridge, &c., did not approach near enough to be cap-tured. The work of destruction complete, the command moved with the captured property to Culpeper, where it was met by the advance of Early's corps, consisting of four thousand men, six pieces of artillery, and two hundred. cavalry.

peper, the enemy gradually gathered in our ear and harassed our rear guard considerably. McCloud's division, at Culpeper, opened with great fury on our flank, with canister, grape, shell, and musketry. Colonel Lazelle marched his command in three parallel lines, and struct the foot of Piney Mountain, where two regiments of infantry had been sent to cut off our retreat. The advance was allowed to pass, and on the approach of the column a terrific fire was opened by the rebel infantry on our line. Here Captain Lawrence Sealy, acting major, and Captain Brown of the 13th, with their commands, charged on the rebeinfantry with great impetuosity; the charge, however, was repulsed. Owing to the position the rebels had taken, it was impossible to cross a swamp in their front. Captain Sealy again rallied his command and held the "key of the mountain" under a transfer of the mountain. of the mountain" under a tremendous fire, and repulsed two cavalry charges, until the whole command had safely crossed and were

The column, after crossing the ford at the Rappahannock, kept leisurely on its way to-ward camp. During the night we bivouacked near the ford. At 4 in the morning the command moved, and its rear guard, under Lieut. Doherty, commanding company M, when near Elk Run, was charged upon with great fury by White's battalion. Five minutes' sharp fighting and a counter charge from the rear guard put the enemy to the right about. Although severely punished, he again and again returned to the attack. The sore disappointment of not being able to capture the whole command at Culpeper induced them to make the most desperate exertion to inflict every injury on the daring little party who had come over one hundred miles into the very heart of the enemy's country, charged into the very midst of a brigade, and fought their way through, doing them much damage.

This march and the damage that has been done the enemy reflect great credit upon the officers and men of the gallant 16th New York

There have been two large auction sales reported in the Express this week, and both of them went off at a heavy decline from last week's rates, while the feeling yesterday afternoon was in favor of a still lower price at the next sale. Cotton goods cannot be manufactured at the current rates, but there are considerable stocks held or space. lation, and there is a general disposition to get out, for fear that a crash may come. Wholesale dry goods merchants seem to be rivaling each other to see who can sell the lowest, and if the retailers will only find out the recent large decline in prices, the public will reap the benefit. The proper way to break up the speculation in produce and merchandise is for consumers to buy no more than they actually want for immediate and arith the ally want for immediate use, and with the present want of confidence in values, our word for it, lower prices must rule.-N. Y. Express.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. David Mumma, a well known butcher, residing on Britton street, near Monument, was drafted from the Eighth ward and in consequence thereof became greatly excited. For some months past he has been suffering from a painful disease which somewhat fering from a painful disease, which somewhat prostrated his nervous system, and this, added to the excitement produced by his being drafted, resulted in his death at an early hour yesterday morning. The deceased was highly respected by a wide circle of friends.—Balt. Sun,

A head of a family in Chicago got jealous of his young and pretty wife. One evening she was absent at 12 o'clock. The husband-concluded to watch for her, and his watch was rewarded by seeing a man and woman in loving embrace on a seat in his grounds. Of course he supposed it was his wife; he rushed franticelly out with a knife in his hand and came within an ace of plunging into the heart of his servant maids lover. His wife had been attending a sick friend.

The further manufacture of 100-pound lead-coated shot for the Armstrong breechloaders has been stopped, as it is contemplated to convert the guns into muzzle-loaders, firing non-leaded shot, so soon as the 70-pounders now in process of conversion from breechloaders are finished.
